

3-Day Studio Workshop
Landscape Painting - Capturing the Atmosphere
Dave Santillanes

This 3-day workshop is for all levels and will focus on designing a studio painting from plein air studies and/or photos. Artists will learn to analyze the information they gathered in the field interpreting color and value relationships in order to create depth in a landscape painting. Many outdoor painting principles will be discussed - including how to design a landscape, and the importance of values, shapes and edges - but with a greater focus on composing a finished piece.

There will be slide presentations, demonstrations, critiques and lots of one-on-one instruction.
